Claresholm Again Wins From Macleod

Last Thursday evening the local hockey team added another victory to their already long list of games they have won.

About 8.15 the game between Macleod and Claresholm opened at the local rink. Our boys were in fine shape and could not have looked better.

The game was a fast one, and even after having three or four of our best men laid out for several minutes, the boys were successful in winning the game by a score of four to one.

The line up was as follows:

Macleod	Claresholm
Net	goal
Mcphy	point
Masson	cover point
Smith	center
Hunt	right wing
Higgins	left wing
Reeves, de Roussey	Harvey

Referee, Mr. Roussey of Sault Ste. Marie.

Special Rates On Seed Grain

The members of the unions of the U. F. A. will remember that last year it was only after some difficulty that they were able to secure the special rates grain.

It appears that from the records of the railway companies, an altogether disproportionate amount of our total crop has been tendered to the railway companies as seed grain, showing very clearly that a good deal of fraudulent misrepresentations was being practiced by certain parties in getting these cheap rates, in plain words, the railroads were being largely granted in the railways for the benefit of farmers was being abused, not necessarily by the farmers themselves, but by parties handling grain and seeking to take advantage of these special rates.

In all probability, but for the exceptional conditions which prevailed in 1914, we would not have been able to secure such a large quantity of grain from the railway companies at all, but would have had to ship on the rates fixed by the Board of Railways Commissioners in the Western Freight Rates case, but, in view of the representations of the organized farmers, based on conditions prevalent in 1914, the three railways, C. P., G. R. and N. W. T. have issued special seed grain tariffs which will be effective from January 15th, 1915 to June 15th 1915, covering special rates in carload quantities and less than carload quantities, for the carriage of grain, flax and grass seed for seeding purposes. These special rates will be available to all grain elevators and grain dealers in the country.

Farmers wishing to avail themselves of these special seed grain rates must apply to the secretary of the nearest local union of the U. F. A. for a certificate which will be required to fill in with the number of bushels and class of grain he wishes to bring in, and any other information required by the railroads.

The local secretary will sign it and forward it to the provincial secretary who will place his signature theron which will, upon the presentation of the certificate with these signatures, to the station agent by the applicant, entitle him to special grain rates. The grain will be billed at the full tariff, and only upon the presentation of the certificate will the railway agent be authorized to give any reduction.

It is pointed out that while these rates are available to all bona fide farmers, whether members of the U. F. A. or not, we hope that those who take advantage of them will apply the same to the Canadian Grain Association, has rendered them, and their local unions might seize the opportunity to point the value of organization in this particular instance. This must be done in a tactful manner however, as same might easily overdo and result in more harm than good. When taking this special grain proportion over, you may easily sow the seed of organization in the mind of the applicant, and as in the case of the seed grain itself, you should be satisfied if the crop matures within six months of the time it is sown.

It is also noticed that these special rates will apply only on each line of railway, that is to say, they will not apply on shipments interchanged between two different roads.

Mother Looks For Her Only Son

Stricken with tears and in the extremest distress, she had just received a touching woman's patriotic letter from her son, who had been recruited by Thomas Guy, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel here, in which Mrs. Margaret Martin, of Lewisville, Minn., appeals to William Alexander, her only son, to write her before she dies, and if at all possible to come and see her.

The letter which is addressed to the manager of the hotel, with instructions for it to be opened in case he was not home, is in part as follows:

"I have waited long to hear from you in vain. My eyes are bad, and I can hardly see, but I want to find out where you are. I want to see you once more if it is God's will. The folks are well, but I wish you could come home and stay with me, I am all alone now."

MUSICAL INSTRUCTION

I am prepared to instruct pupils on the following musical instruments: Violin, clarinet, cornet and flute. Write for appointment to W. D. Macleod, P. O. Box 56, Claresholm, Alta. 47-48.

Whist Drive Given In

Honor Of G. A. Adams

About twenty of the young people of Claresholm were very royally entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cochrane, last evening, as a welcome drive given in honor of George A. Adams, who has joined the 13 Mounted Rifles soon. Whist was played until shortly after eleven o'clock when a delicious lunch which had been prepared by the hostess was served.

And after several musical selections the participants dispersed, feeling that they had spent a most enjoyable evening.

Special Postage To British And Canadian Troops

Post Office Department, Canada, Ottawa, January 29th, 1915.

Arrangements have been made whereby the ordinary rate of two cents postage will be paid on all letters sent from Canada to the United Kingdom. This will apply to letters addressed to British and Canadian troops on the continent. The rate on ordinary letters from Canada for the continent is five cents for the first ounce, and three cents for each subsequent ounce, so that this extension of the two cent on ordinary letters addressed to our soldiers on the continent, is a decided reduction in favor of correspondence going to the soldiers.

THE CALL TO YOU, MY LADIE

Who's for the trench—
Are you, my laddie?
Wh'll follow French—
Will you, my laddie?

Who's fretting to begin?
Who's going out to win?

And—who wants to save his skin—
Do you, my laddie?

Who's for the khaki suit—
Who's for the khaki suit—

Who hangs to charge and shoot—
Do you, my laddie?

Who's keen on getting fit?

Who means to show his grit?

And—who'd rather wait a bit—
Would you, my laddie?

Who'll earn the Empire's thanks?

Will you, my laddie?

Who'll swell the soldier's ranks?

Will you, my laddie?

When that processions comes;

Banners and rattling drums—

Who'll stand and bite his thumb?

Will you, my laddie?

Prominent Young Man

Join 13th Mounted Rifles

GEO. A. ADAMS, has resigned his position as manager of the grocery department of the James Clark Co., and enlisted with the 13 Mounted Rifles, and leaves tomorrow for Macleod where he will take up his duties as Quarter-Master Sergeant.

Geo. A. Adams has been with the James Clark Co. for the last three years and held a position of manager of the grocery department for that firm. During his time in Claresholm he has made many friends who will greatly miss him.

In losing Mr. Adams, Claresholm loses one of her most estimable and promising young business men.

Genus Juveniles vs. Claresholm Juveniles

Claresholm Juveniles

Last Friday evening a goodly number turned out to witness the hockey game between Claresholm and Genus juveniles teams. The game was a good one and at the finish the score stood 6—3 and 3.

The following is the line-up:

Brown goal C. Shearer

Vale point M. Tillotson

Oktoks Curls With Claresholm

Claresholm met Oktoks at the local curling rink Tuesday afternoon, when they had sent two rinks down to play one game of the series arranged for in the early part of the season for which the Georges trophy has been offered.

The rinks for each of the towns are as follows:

Oktoks Claresholm

Ardiel Rossmere

Wells Parry

Paycock Shanks

Their skip Mississauga

Morrison Gaudin

Knowles Murray

Petersen Ringrose

Paterson skip Moffatt, skip

Mitchell was successful in winning his game from Thorne by a score of twenty-two to three, while Paterson by a score of ten to eleven.

High School Debating League

will be remembered that the second preliminary round of the local debating league was a tie at $1,044.98.

A peculiar feature of the debate of that district was that an un-

profitable business to the value of $90,000

was built up to the value of $1,044.98.

The significance of the last two items is not in the quantity exported, but in the fact that a new market is being opened for these products.

The Education records which only opened on January 1, 1914, showed that the Edmonton exports for the local districts amounted to a total of $1,044.98.

A peculiar feature of the exports of that district was that an un-

profitable business to the value of $90,000

The significance of the last two items is not in the quantity exported, but in the fact that a new market is being opened for these products.

Edmonton's exports consisted of chiefly meats, amounting to $1,066.82 which is very large percentage of the narrow margins by which, in most instances, the winners have obtained the honors. This speaks well for the interest which the students are taking in the work.

The semi-finals take place tomorrow February 6th, the subject being "Reserve Officers in Canada should adopt the Australian system of compulsory military training."

The following schools will compete:

Lethbridge High School vs. Claresholm Agricultural High School.

Olds Agricultural High School vs. Camrose High School.

Edmonton Separate High School vs. Vegreville High School.

"B" Squadron 13th Mounted Rifles

The recruiting staff comprising of Major C. W. James, Harry Bell and Eddie Adams were kept busy all day Wednesday taking on recruits. Over 300 were signed on and duly accepted.

On Saturday morning the 15th left for Macleod in order to get the quarters ready for the balance of the men which will be recruited to the full strength of 158 men by Monday.

In the meantime drafts will be forwarded to different intervals.

Major James has recruits from High River, Stayner, Hanna and other towns throughout Alberta.

G. A. Adams is serving Squadron Quarter-Master-Sergeant leaves on Friday morning the 13th to take over his duties with the 13th Mounted Rifles, and leaves tomorrow for Macleod where he will take up his duties as Quarter-Master Sergeant.

The figures show that in practically every branch of agricultural production enormous gains have been made—in livestock, in wheat, in flour, in hides, in meats and in rye, while new products appeared on the list that have not previously crossed the border from this territory—wood and coal.

Two canoes are given for the sand-dunes activity, in the export of the products of agriculture, the removal of the U. S. barrier against livestock in November 1913, which gave the industry an undoubted impetus, and the natural increase in production by the introduction and the closer settlement of the land.

The figures given are confined to that part of the Calgarian district within the scope of the Calgary consulate.

Edmonton and Lethbridge have separate districts not taken into account in that compilation.

Probably the biggest lead is shown in the export of logs. In 1914 the value of logs to the value of $1,044.98 increased the 49th period by 1,172,191.

In 1914 the log shipments amounted to $1,757,172, an increase of about 3300 per cent. The following table shows the rapid growth of shipments from the Calgary districts to the United States:

WITH three of the kaiser's six sons wounded in battle, the Prince of Wales of England on the firing line and the respective crown princes of Austria and Servia at the heads of army corps, the sons of rulers of the countries at war in Europe are playing a conspicuous part in the great struggle. Stories from the front agree that scions of royalty are where the bullets fly the thickest.

While all of the kaiser's six sons have been at the front from the opening of the war, the prince who had been away for a few weeks ago saw that the hour to the west of England joined the fighting forces. He was welcomed by the Duke of Fife, who sent him to Boulougne a fine reception was given him by the troops who had been trained in the use of the rifle. When he was brought to the hospital he was told that his brother had joined the active forces there was a general outburst of cheering. The injured men were held up to the window of the carriage to see him, and he shook hands with them and spoke to them and others. The prince was in khaki and seemed very fit and in excellent spirits. After a short stay at Boulougne he went to Wales, then attached to the First Division, he was exceptionally keen on mounted exercises and the features of a soldier's training. He was told that he could not go to the front as he would get his chance of going in active service, but his hope was not at an end, for he was told that he would be ordered to the front as he was transferred to other duties. The young prince did not remain long in Wales, however, for he made a personal call on Lord Kitchener at the war office, but the secretary of state for war was adamant. He pointed out to his royal highness that he had not served his full course of military training and that until this had been done no exception could be made even to favor the heir to the throne.

Prince Not to Be Denied.
Though disappointed by the rebuff, the prince went about his duties in England with sustained enthusiasm and doubtless had been exercising a powerful influence to his side. The prince was only twenty years old last June when at Oxford. The prince was in the university officers' training corps, and he took his grueling with the rest. He marched to the camp under a blazing sun and bivouacked by the roadside in a blanket. With his jacket and shirt collar wide open and cuffs rolled back he was unrecognizable.

able among the khaki clad cadets striding along the dusty roads from Moulmein to the front. It is said that now both King George and Lord Kitchener have given their consent to the Prince of Wales joining the army at the earliest opportunity. The Duke of York, the Earl of March, Major Sir John French, etc.

The sons of the kaiser, in order as they are, are: Crown Prince Frederick William, Prince Eitel Frederick, Prince Adalbert, Prince August, Prince Oscar and Prince Heinrich. The three last named have been wounded in the war. The crown prince, for years a leading figure in Germany, like a playboy for many months escape injury during the early period of the war, although numerous stories had him wounded and mortally hurt on many occasions.

The crown prince was known in his youth as very much of a daredevil is said to have shown absolute fearlessness in the present war of Germany against Russia. He has several brothers who have been held as prisoners by the Germans while leading the first division of the Imperial German army corps.

The crown prince was born on May 6, 1882. His military education was long, and he was a cadet at one of the German military schools for four years. He became a lieutenant in 1896 and had reached a colonel's rank just before war was declared.

He was married on June 6, 1905, to Princess Sophie of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, and they have had four sons, the oldest of whom was born on July 4, 1906, and the youngest in December, 1912.

For years the crown prince was a leading advocate of a military policy for Germany. He identified himself entirely with the army. He resented anything that bore the faintest resemblance to socialism upon it, entitling him to the suspicion of being a militaristic tendency and became at times so outspokenly belligerent that his imperial father was compelled to curb his ardor. An instance of this militarism finds the war which he believed imminent actually under way and, instead of "banishment" and repression, he received from his father the command to march into France to cross the Rhine in victory and to add to his credit against the French in Lorraine. It would certainly appear the the first step has come into his own.

and his son). An instance of this was his "banishment" to Danzig a few years ago, and it was authoritatively reported that similar measures were contemplated after the crown prince's return.

praise of Lieutenant Colonel Prohle, recently published pamphlet, "Germany's War," Dr. Paul Lincke, military officer, spoke of England's "treacherous plots" against Germany, France's thirst for revenge and Russia's hatred of all things Teutonic.

GERMAN SOLDIERS WIT
TRENCH fighting is one of the big developments of the war in Europe. As the great opposing armies advance trenches are dug, into which great hordes of men pour. Then along comes the artillery. If the advancing artillerist can silence the guns of the enemy the infantry leaves the trenches and fights off to the trench of the enemy.
Often gunners get the range of a trench and the slaughter is terrible.
Soldiers who have been fighting see toy say the hostile trenches there were only fifteen yards apart at some points, so that the enemies could hear each other talking. A company of experts was misled by the darkness right into a German trench, where a squad of Teuton shippers was at work. The Germans fought in the dark with picks and shovels, and rifle fire began to crack, and soon upon each side drew back.

In French cemeteries, with their strong iron tombs, sometimes play an important role, in the hostilities. These the Germans entrenched themselves on a cemetery height near Roje and made it a strong position. The vaults offered a safe shelter against rain and shrapnel, while metallic coffins were placed along the edge of the trenches as a protection against rifle fire.

A correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle writes:
The character of the fighting in Breda does not permit of detailed description. There is nothing to conceal in the range of vision.

"The wind gave a new horror to this war. There was something devilish in its howling, in its long angry roar, as it came with enormous force across the fields and then buried itself against the walls of a village or the roof or an old barn, as if nature herself had been seized with the fury of destruction."

"It was very hot, as well as very cold, at Odessa and at Nicopoli and along the line to Siyevenskere and Lembardzidsche. The German batteries were hard at work again, belching out an inexhaustible supply of

"Tents are pitched on odds suitable for the men to sleep in, and the mud being humped up on the edges of the tents. Then the mud is scraped off and fresh mud applied. I have seen others found out. I have seen old soldiers mark all the holes made after the soldiers had struck camp, marked all over with the mud, and then the mud was washed away, so that the remains of the fighting are such that results can be obtained wherever the men sleep. The mud is washed away and again I have seen men drop down and sleep before the tent could be pitched." — Mrs. K. M.

Have you ever stopped to think that a hen will lay 150 eggs a year? Certified agriculturists tell us that it costs 16¢ a dozen to produce eggs. People in the business say that fresh eggs average 45¢ a dozen. This leaves a net profit of 9¢ a dozen. 9¢ net on 150 eggs is $8.75, which you should make net profit on each hen. If you had 1000 hens it would be $875. You should make net profit. If you are earning less than this amount please come to my office and let us talk the matter over. You can buy a model farm for $150 cash, the balance spread over a term of years. Model farms are all cleared—no stumps or stones to contend with. They are situated on the main line of the Canadian Northern Railroad, are connected with the city of Kamloops by a good all-weather road. Hydro electric power is available at the site. Model farms passes through the property which will supply light and power. Model farms are situated right on the bank of the North Thompson river, which supplies ample water for irrigation. Model farms are cleared farms. The price is only $150 per acre or $750 for five acres. $150 cash and balance spread over five years.

CITY BUILDING AND DULL TIMES

How to Make a City of 15,000 Population It is up to the Canadian Consumer

In a speech delivered before the Sherwood Board of Trade, Mr. J. H. Sherrard, Vice-President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, made some striking statements about the "Made-in-Canada" movement. In his speech he said that the arguments for the "Made-in-Canada" idea, dealing particularly with present conditions, Mr. Sherrard showed very conclusively what the practical application of the doctrine in the purchase of the everyday consumer would mean.

Adding Cities

Mr. Sherrard referred to Sherbrooke as an important city and said there were only twenty-two other cities in Canada as large or larger. Did they realize that 90 per cent of the men in the United States and 80 per cent of Canadians were made in Canada, it would add another city to Canada, as large as Sherbrooke? Canada was thought to be a great paper-making country, but the paper-making concerns of business men of Canada would specify a Canadian paper for their stationery. It would add another town to the Dominion, the size of Sherbrooke? They all knew there was not a bus- wooden house to be built in the United States, so the speaker asked his tailor to show him some Canadian tweeds he looked at him with a sort of mild pity and replied he did not make them up. When asked to have some samples ready for inspection the tailor looked troubled and said the jobber from whom he bought his cloth did not carry Canadian tweeds. After the tailor in question had been informed that he would be very对不起 to you, and that he intended to buy from a tailor who could keep him dressed up to the minute, the samples arrived the next morning, and they were as good as any West of England cloth.

Made in Sherbrooke

In fact, they were so good that he was asked to go on to the jobber, the tailor he informed him they were made in Sherbrooke. One thing that impressed the speaker about his Canadian suit was that it cost considerably less than he had been accustomed to pay for the same size and of the chief reasons was the popularity of Canadian goods of a better class. The tailor did not make as much money as he could out of imported clothe.

"MADE-IN-CANADA" AND UNEMPLOYMENT

How Civic Fathers furnish Work For Mechanics in Foreign Countries—
Wisdom For Canadians

In the months of September, October and November, 1913, the Toronto manufacturing concern, the Civic Works Department, one of the largest employers of labor in that city, entered on three different City contracts. Its aggregate tenders for the three jobs were $64,846. The contracts were awarded, respectively, to the New York firm, whose aggregate tenders were $64,253, $307, or less than one-half of 1% below those of the Toronto firm. Hundreds of this firm's employees have been laid off in the last few months through lack of work. The contracts embraced pumps, machinery and iron castings.

In Winnipeg a few months ago the City Council awarded to the American Civic Works Department a contract for 1,100 tons of pipe, approximately $50,000 worth of work. A Fort William firm, whose price was only $800 more than that of the United States firm, lost the contract when most of its plant was idle and when its workers were walking the streets of Fort William.

The Works Department in Toronto purchased its 1913 supply of paving bricks, valued at approximately $40,000 for the year, from a United States firm. If Toronto brick makers had secured the wages involved in this contract, instead of their rivals in Ohio, many workers now in the bread line would have had several more savings to tide them over the period of stress.

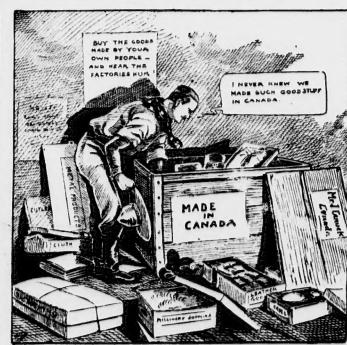

It would be unreasonable to demand under all circumstances that Civic Fathers in the various cities above the "Made-in-Canada" product. It would be found, however, that if the total cost of Toronto's unemployment relief measures were added to the contract price of foreign firms, who are engaged on contracts in Canada, Canadian firms would be in no margin in favor of the outsiders. Self help is the best form of philanthropy, and by helping Canadian factory workers and Canadian manufacturers to secure a larger share of the business, Canadian cities would be insuring against unemployment.

The purchase of $1,000 of goods in our own city, or in our own country instead of in the United States, means the addition of one man and his family to Canada instead of supporting him abroad.

5,000 Facts About Canada

"Know Canada, make Canada known!" is a striking sentence in the War Year edition for 1915 of that popular booklet "5,000 Facts About Canada," compiled by Frank Leigh, of Toronto who knows Canada probably better than any man living. It consists of 5,000 general and specific facts about Canada, including its population, wealth, its weight in Yukon gold or Cobalt silver," while as a means of making the Dominion known in other countries, it is most valuable. Fifty chapters are devoted to such subjects as Agriculture, Area, Banking, Census, Immigration, Mining, Manufacturing, Trade, etc., and a page of Canadian War Facts shows the progress of the war in Canada and the Dominion in 1877 and 1915. Copies may be had from progressive news dealers, or by sending 25c, to the Canadian Facts Publishing Co., 588 Huron Street, Toronto, Canada.
